

SOCIETY

HUNDREDS AT RECEPTION.

One of the most successful social functions of the new year was given Thursday evening by Father Cushman and Father Ryan, the occasion being the formal presentation of the new St. Joseph's hall to the parishioners. The hall was a thing of beauty in its warm red and green dress relieved by hundreds of brilliant lights. From the pillars, which support the ceiling, to the electroluxes, a canopy was formed of red and green festoons, a miniature spruce or cedar standing guard at each pillar. Tete-tete and smoking places were improvised by the use of rugs and Oriental draperies, soft shaded lights and comfortable divans.

A beautifully appointed table, centered with a basket of crimson carnations and tulip, set with sparkling silver and glass, and with a centerpiece of red shaded candles was in the center of a grape summer house of palms and delicately formed screens of autumnal grape vines of the most exquisite colorings of red, green and gold, the vines showing bunches of grapes.

The platform where an interesting program was rendered, was bordered with a garland of autumn leaves, palms and autumn leaves decorating other parts of the stage as well.

Having been presented by Attorney J. H. Devine, Father Cushman, in his own sweetly charming manner, presented to his "dearly beloved children" St. Joseph's new hall, the applause he received attesting the great love and esteem in which he is held by his parishioners.

At the close of his address, the following program was rendered:

Plano solo, Miss Mabel Knauss.
Vocal solo, Mrs. Edna Hamilton.
Duet, "Tittle Tattle," Little George and Thelma Cronin, their brother Tom responding to their encore with the "Kandy Kid," charming all his hearers.

Vocal solo, Walter Bauman's "The Rosary," Miss Marguerite McNulty.

Violin solo, Miss Genevieve Malone.
Duet, A. A. McBride and Mrs. Jeffers.

Vocal solo, Miss Cecile Ragan.
Plano, Miss Loretta Malone.
Voice, W. S. O'Brien.

Murphy, George Wall, P. McCarran and Miss Kittie Fitzgerald.

A buffet luncheon was served to several hundred guests, the children as well as the grown-up friends of the hosts.

Among the out-of-town guests was Father Guinan of Salt Lake.

THEATER BOX PARTIES.

That clever play, "The Virginian," was the inspiration for a number of smart box parties at the New Ogden theater Monday evening. Mr. Grant of the theater had as his guests Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Richards, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Walker West.

MRS. CRAIG ENTERTAINS.

Mrs. Wm. Craig threw her doors open Wednesday afternoon to the members of the W. C. T. U. After business transactions an interesting program, arranged by the superintendent of "Mother's meetings" was rendered. One of the most important features of the afternoon was the surprise given Miss Chapman, the ever faithful treasurer. The surprise was in the form of a "dinner shower." After a delicious luncheon had been served the guests departed, to meet with Mrs. E. B. Knapp of 316 Jefferson avenue, February 2nd.

I. O. G. T. PARTY.

The graduates of the sub-high school were honored last night by the Seniors with one of the most brilliant dances given at the high school auditorium this season. It was an invitational affair, the invited guests numbering three hundred. The lady teachers and Mrs. J. C. Cross were patronesses. The dance being conducted by a committee of Seniors and Professor J. O. Cross.

These dances, which are given especially for high school students whose parents are always welcomed, are for the purpose of breaking the monotony of a week of hard study as well as for keeping the student body on a high social plane.

The unique program contained sixteen dances with four extras and were danced by as pretty a set of girls as has been seen to grace any junction. During the evening Miss Mildred Allan served punch.

CONGREGATIONAL DINNER.

The parlors of the Congregational church were never more artistically arranged than on last Wednesday evening for the annual dinner of the church and society. Fully 125 guests partook of the splendid dinner prepared by a host of workers under the efficient direction of Mesdames Kelly, Perkins and McIntosh. The young ladies of the church served at the tables to the queen's taste. A profusion of choicest flowers were used for the table decorations. One would hardly believe that the autumn leaves could have been used as effectively in outlining the centerpieces. The good things to eat were just what one expects from the ladies of the Congregational church, while the laughter and happy faces spoke of the good cheer which prevailed throughout the evening.

When the chairs could be pushed back, the company was treated to an hour of rare music in which Miss Holberg, Miss Gunnell, Miss Webster and Mr. White captivated their appreciative audience. It is safe to say that the local church has not enjoyed so rich a social evening in many years.

BRIDGE CLUB.

Mrs. H. M. Rowe gave a delightful afternoon Wednesday to the members of her "Bridge Club." Her rooms were simply decorated, the dining table being centered with pink carnations, held in a cut crystal centerpiece. After the scores were counted, Mesdames Driggs and Runyan having captured handsome souvenirs, Mrs. Rowe served an elaborate luncheon to Mesdames C. H. Kircher, Ambrose Hibbs, F. M. Driggs, A. G. Horn, Fred Nye, Wm. Van Allen and O. M. Runyan.

WAS A SURPRISE.

Last Wednesday evening, as the prayer meeting of the Methodist church was closed, Rev. McCreery announced that those who were present, were invited to pass to the main auditorium to witness the way he could crown the happiness of people. A hint was enough for a young man and young woman who were strangers and who had been present at the meeting, and all realized that they were to witness a wedding. Using the beautiful ring ceremony, Mr. McCreery united in marriage Mr. Hjaemer Emanuel Berg of Nevada and Miss Virginia Lee Brandt of Old Point Comfort, Virginia. The bride was formerly an Ogden girl, her father being pastor of the Christian church. She is one of "The seven grand-daughters of Robert E. CANADA WILL PROHIBIT EXPORTS OF WOOD PULP.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 21.—The first Canadian conservation conference which ended in Ottawa yesterday has developed a sentiment in favor of prohibition of all pulp wood export, which may have a serious effect on the situation now existing between the country and the United States. The conference took no formal action on the subject, but a canvass of the delegates revealed a fairly unanimous opinion that all the Canadian wood pulp should be manufactured on this side of the line.

Wilfred's Description.

Upon returning from a palatial residence Wilfred remarked to his government.

"Geo. Mary, it was great. They had swell furniture and swell carpets. In fact, everything in the house was swollen."

STATE NEWS

BOYCOTT OF MEAT IS JOINED BY UTAH MEN

Salt Lake, Jan. 22.—"Following in line with the citizens of other cities, a meeting will be held in Federation hall, Fifth South and State streets, on Saturday night at 8 o'clock, to protest against the high prices of butter and other necessities of life, and to invite the people of Salt Lake to join the 'We Don't Eat Meat League' for a period of at least thirty days. It is proposed to get the housewives also to 'swear off' on butter for the same period. If the people will quit eating butter for thirty days, at the end of that time the butter trust will be glad to get 25 cents a pound for butter."

"Prominent and well-known speakers will address the meeting, among them several women who some time ago inaugurated a campaign along this line."

The foregoing announcement of a meeting tonight is one of the first fruits of the mass meeting of citizens of last Saturday night.

At that meeting the hall was packed and it is expected that it will be equally so tonight. The greatest of interest in the cost of living problem is reported in all quarters.

In the meantime the committee appointed to handle the question at last Saturday night's meeting has not been idle. It, with some added members, met Tuesday night and sub-divided into four committees, known as executive, legislative, commercial and labor. Of these the executive has taken in hand the question of finances and the calling of meetings. The legislative has already reported on the city law regarding farmers selling produce in the city. The labor committee is starting a movement looking to the employment of citizens on the various contract jobs of the city.

The commercial committee has before it three plans, which will be discussed at a meeting Tuesday night. These will be reported to the general committee on Wednesday night and to a mass meeting to be called, probably, next Saturday night.

One of these plans involves a co-operative store, to operate factories if necessary, and to divide the profits among its traders in the proportion of their purchases. Canvassers already report that 2,500 families are ready to join such a store, and they say that the number can be completed to 5,000. It is stated that a $100,000 concern can be readily set on foot, which will take and sell for cash only, and that similar stores have succeeded both in this country and Europe.

Other plans involve the utilization of vacant lands surrounding the city as homes for truck gardeners, each to occupy about five acres. Still another involves home employment for those who can make something that is salable in the store.

It is stated that the committee has a promise of a site near the postoffice for a building, if necessary, for such a store.

GRAND RECEPTION IS GIVEN TO JEFFRIES

Provo, Jan. 22.—Sam Berger, manager and sparring partner of James J. Jeffries, speaking for the champion, gave out this statement at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon as the big champion's party passed through Provo:

"Jeffries has no objection to holding the battle for the heavyweight championship in Utah. However, just at present Mr. Jeffries and I do not wish to enter into the controversy over the location of the bout. We wish to wait for Mr. Rickard and Mr. Gleason to settle their difficulties. When they decide on a location agreeable to both of them, we are willing to go there, whether it be Utah, California or Nevada."

Mr. Berger was interested in learning any new developments in the controversy and asked what chance there was for holding the bout in Utah. He was surprised to learn that it had been definitely settled that the contest was to come to Salt Lake.

James J. Jeffries, the only "Jeff," reached Salt Lake at 2:30 this afternoon with his troupe of all-star athletes. The champion and his companions arrived from Grand Junction over the Rio Grande. As the train drew into the station the great crowd at the station cheered the big pugilist to the echo.

Enthusiasts eager to see the boxer at close range attempted to board the train to reach him, but they were held back by the policemen. "Tex" Rickard and several local business men, however, were permitted to board the train. The champion was with his manager, Sam Berger, and his trio of great wrestlers, Frank Gotch, Dr. B. F. Roller and Farmer Burns when the train pulled in. The quick eye of the champion caught sight of "Tex" Rickard and they shook hands warmly.

Within a few moments "Tex" Rickard had the big gladiator and his manager in tow and they were whisked up to the hotel.

SKIN GRAFTING PROVES SUCCESS

Operation Performed in Salt Lake Saves 300 Inches of Cuticle.

Salt Lake, Jan. 22.—In the case of Joseph E. Taylor, yardman for the Bamberger Coal company, who left the Latter-day Saints hospital today, there has been involved a larger area covered by "skin-grafting" than in many cases on which the press service send dispatches from New York or other eastern centers of population. The local case has the additional feature that all the cuticle taken to recover an area of raw flesh of 200 square inches was taken from the patient's own body.

That Mr. Taylor has some real "grit" is evident. During the long series of operations—from two to four a week—for about five weeks, he never was under the influence of an anesthetic, and the last time about fifty pieces of skin were taken from one part of his body and placed on the bare leg. This operation lasted something like an hour.

About three months ago Mr. Taylor suffered a slight injury on his leg. In some manner the wound gathered an infection, and the result was that the skin on the limb became dead and sloughed off in large pieces, until the flesh was bare from the ankle to above the hip.

His condition became so serious that he was finally taken to the hospital, where, after some weeks had been spent in getting rid of the infection, the operations for replacing the skin commenced.

Wilfred's Description.

Upon returning from a palatial residence Wilfred remarked to his government.

"Geo. Mary, it was great. They had swell furniture and swell carpets. In fact, everything in the house was swollen."

"The work of putting the building in shape is now going forward and it will be ready within ninety days."

Sister Vincent of the Order of Sisters of Mercy, and three assistants are now at the home preparing it. They will be joined a short time later by trained nurses from the Mercy hospital at Chicago, according to Rev. Father Kely of this city.

It is expected the contract for the furniture will be let in a few days. Arrangements for opening of the building were practically completed by Bishop L. Scanlan, before he left this city a short time ago.

The Judge Miners' home was built at a cost of nearly $150,000 by the late Mary Judge, as a memorial to her husband, John Judge, who made a fortune in the mines of Utah. It was the intention of Mrs. Judge that the building should be used as a home for aged and disabled miners, for the men who, like her husband, worked under the ground. When the home was completed Mrs. Judge placed its care and management in the hands of Bishop Scanlan of the Catholic church, of which she was a devout member.

In addition to taking full charge of the home the church was to furnish it. The home was completed in 1902, when the diocese was building the great cathedral on East South Temple street. The cost of the latter building was so great that the church could not see its way clear to furnish the miners' home and open it at once. Now, it is said, the money is in sight not only to furnish the home, but to make of it one of the greatest hospitals and homes of its kind in the entire country.

The building is a large and magnificent one and is located in an ideal spot, commanding a view of the entire Salt Lake valley.

INSANE MAN ESCAPES FROM STATE ASYLUM

Provo, Jan. 22.—William Hales, an insane man, who has been an inmate of the State Mental hospital, escaped from that institution last night and went to his home at Spanish Fork, where he ran amuck for several hours. Securing a gun he started to shoot up the town. It required the force of his uncle, Deputy Sheriff Alvin C. Hales, and several other men to place him under arrest.

He was confined for a time in the Spanish Fork city jail, but with the violence of a lunatic he broke out of jail and once more terrorized the community. He was finally recaptured and returned to the asylum this morning.

MORE MACHINERY FOR THE JARBIDGE CAMP

Twin Falls Operator Predicts Great Future for District.

Salt Lake, Jan. 22.—H. T. Allen of Twin Falls, Ida., and owner of several promising claims in the new Jarbidge gold district, has returned to camp after a visit in Salt Lake during which he purchased mining tools and supplies which he could not secure in Twin Falls. Mr. Allen, though not overenthusiastic about the Jarbidge district, is of the opinion that it is destined to be a "world beater." Mr. Allen confirms what has already been said regarding the number of men now in the district—about 350, with more than that number now waiting in Twin Falls to rush into the country just as soon as the roads become suitable for the transportation of supplies and provisions.

Sample lots of ore brought to this city for testing by local assayers have given returns of from $40 to $980 per ton, these ores having been "grab samples" from five different strikes already opened on located claims, and by no means picked specimens. Cripple Creek, Colo., and Goldfield, Nev., mining men, it is said, are especially anxious to get into the new territory, and the Oregon Short Line officials at Twin Falls have to date received more than 1,300 letters of inquiry as to the best route into Jarbidge.

Mr. Allen states that the ground surrounding the original strikes in the camp has been staked out and located for a radius of twenty miles, though the actual mineralized zone so far as prospected is about two and one-half miles in width and five miles in length. When the snow goes, however, and prospecting is again made possible, it is thought that the boundaries of this zone will be greatly increased, as good values were found near the surface some twelve miles to the east of the camp late last fall.

Mr. Allen lays stress, as do others, who have visited in Jarbidge, on the benefits to be derived by the new gold-hunters' mecca, from the almost unlimited water and timber supply which is a part and parcel of the mineral-bearing land.

ROUGH HOUSE CAUSED BY A COCAINE FIEND

Salt Lake, Jan. 22.—For waving a gun about his head and threatening to kill the inmates of the house at 131 South Second West street, Lawrence Metzger, who is said to be a "dope fiend," was arrested Friday night by Patrolmen Johnson, Egbert, Dunder and Griffin and disarmed, after which he was taken to the police station.

Telephoning the police that a crazy man was about to kill everyone in the house, one of the inmates of the house implored the desk sergeant at the station to send officers immediately. When the police arrived they found that the man had driven everyone out of the house and had threatened to kill any policeman who entered. He could be seen through the window waving the gun about.

With drawn revolvers the patrolmen entered the room and when close to the man, Patrolman Griffin stepped up and grabbed the gun, while the rest of the officers surrounded the man. He was then placed in the patrol wagon and taken to the station. When searched at the station he was found to have enough cocaine on his person to kill a dozen ordinary men, and he later confessed to the police that he was under the influence of the drug and had been "running a big bluff," as he expressed it, on the inmates of the house. He was charged with exhibiting a deadly weapon.

INDICTMENT IN THE HEINZE CASE QUASHED.

New York, Jan. 22.—Judge O'Hough in the United States circuit court today sustained a demurrer entered by Attorney John B. Stanchfield and quashed the indictment against P. O. Augustus Heinze in the Mercantile National bank case.

Judge O'Hough intimates in his decision that the technical illegality which he holds was committed in this case might easily be remedied by a re-consideration of the case in the proper way to the grand jury.

The decision is considered important, however, inasmuch as this same accountant or rather equally disqualified un-ported employed before the federal grand jury which indicted Charles W. Morse and John R. Walsh.

BOY IS DROWNED IN A BATHING POOL

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Men entering the swimming pool in the new Y. M. C. A. here last night found the body of a young man. The body was brought up and found to be that of John Bowen, 18 years old, a member of the association. He had been seized with cramps while alone in the tank.

The Growth of Light

Ideas, magnificence and display have gradually grown from the simple homespun garments of Colonial Days until our ideas and business are covered like a garment of ivy clinging to the castle wall.

Display in business seems to be the main feature and aim for attaining success. A few years ago merchants were happy and contented selling goods without elaborate show cases and expensive windows, but the demands of our day and time have changed all that. The cost of clothing, hardware and groceries have increased, while rates and charges for electric current have not increased, but the demand for increased illumination has exceeded former and earlier requirements until, the brilliancy of commercial illumination has become a big item in our operating expense.

The rates for electricity have remained the same, but the demand for it and the amount used has increased over 200 per cent in the last few years.

The new electric lamp known as the Tungsten, has proved to be educational and an object lesson besides. The promises of reduction in current for this lamp
